LOPANE JOINS WIHD

Cindy Lopane has joined the Westchester Institute for Human Development (WIHD) as its director of development and community engagement.

Lopane had been with the March of Dimes in White Plains where she served as development and community manager since 2010.

Lopane received her bachelor's degree from Dominican College. A resident of Harrison, she currently serves as president of the Harrison High School PTA and is on the board of the New York Raptors Special Hockey, a nonprofit program for special-needs children and adults, which enables them to participate in ice hockey.
