The Westchester Institute for Human Development (WIHD) recently saluted 22 dedicated employees at its annual Longevity Awards program. Their employment at WIHD ranged from five to 45 years. Susan Fox, PhD, President and CEO, presented each person with their award, and their supervisors shared stories of each individual's achievements.

"These honorees have demonstrated tremendous commitment and dedication to our mission. We are very proud to have such talented and caring professionals at WIHD," Fox said at the event, held at WIHD's headquarters in Valhalla.
