

Training Announcement for July 2024-July 2025

Westchester Institute for Human Development

A University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities and Related Disorders located in Valhalla, New York (30 min. north of New York City)

is currently seeking applicants for its

Internships in Clinical Psychology

(emphasizing Child Welfare, Pediatric Developmental Disabilities, & Early Childhood)

July 2024-July 2025

This is a full time internship for graduates of Professional Psychology doctoral programs. It offers a broad variety of training experiences with extensive individual and group supervision, including:

- ❖ Assessment with children and parents involved in the child welfare system
- ❖ Play based and Trauma-focused intervention with children referred from the Child Advocacy Center with the opportunity to be TF-CBT certified.
- ❖ Involvement and collaboration with the Westchester County Department of Social Services
- ❖ Assessment/training in early childhood disabilities/autism spectrum disorders
- ❖ Evidence-based behavioral interventions to adults and children with autism and developmental disabilities, with challenging behavior and/or mental health needs
- ❖ Professional seminars
- ❖ Engaging the community in workshops for parents

Psychology Interns will also take part in a 9-month, federally-funded Leadership Training in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND) featuring:

- ❖ Developmental disabilities training from a multi-disciplinary perspective (with content in clinical issues, family-centered care, cultural competence and diversity, public health, policy and advocacy, and evidence-based practice)
- ❖ Participation in team projects & research groups
- ❖ Attendance at local/national conferences
- ❖ Opportunities to develop presentation & legislative advocacy skills

For further information:

www.wihd.org-->Training-->Graduate Student Training Opportunities→Psychology Training

For questions, contact:

T. Rao, Psy.D. at trao@wihd.org